Honors Program Policies

By definition, a Program is more than a series of courses. The Honors Program at LSUS is a comprehensive academic experience that includes multi-disciplinary seminars, speakers, events, trips, luncheons, and small gatherings in the Center.

Center

Restricted to members of the Honors Program ONLY! If you have a study group needing space to work, contact me to open up the third floor computer lab, the seminar room, or an unused classroom.

You have 24-hour access for study and Program activities. Please do not share the door code with anyone except a Program member.

Keep the place tidy – all trash in the large plastic container, tables wiped if there are any spills, and personal items not interfering with access to the room or to resources in the room.

Retention

GPA – 3.00 overall each semester and a 3.00 for the term. In other words, no GPA for either a semester or the overall transcript can be below a 3.00.

Participate in a minimum of three (3) approved enrichment activities each semester.*

Be continuously enrolled in the HONR course sequence.

No grade below a C in any HONR class. One C puts the student on Honors probation. All future HONR grades must be B or above.

Complete 30 hours of coursework over each calendar year.

* All students must attend a minimum of three (3) Humanities/Social Science-related activities each semester in addition to those sponsored by the Program. Some events will be featured on the large bulletin board and others may be individual choices. All must be approved prior to attendance and each must be written up briefly for the Program newsletter.

Courses

Attendance is presumed and students are expected to prepare well, to ask questions, to even lead discussion.

All courses are multi-disciplinary, discussion-based seminars. The texts are provided for you by the Program.
All faculty have terminal degrees and are active researchers in their fields. You get the best of the best – those who really enjoy teaching and those who are leaders in their disciplines!