

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN COUNSELING PSYCHOLOGY

Course Requirements

The Master of Science in Counseling Psychology (MSCP) degree is a 48-semester-hour graduate program which has as its objective the training of professional counselors. This curriculum is specifically designed to meet the requirements of the current Louisiana state licensing act for Licensed Professional Counselors, which requires a 48-hour master's degree in counseling including eight specific curricular areas.

Accordingly, there is a core of six courses (18 semester hours) that provides a basis for further study emphasizing increasing theoretical knowledge and practical application skills in a variety of counseling specialty areas. The 10 courses (30 semester hours) devoted to theory and applications include a 100-clock-hour practicum and two semesters, 300 clock hours each, of internship experience. In the practicum and internship experiences, students are under the guidance and supervision of both University-based faculty and field-based practitioners.

Admission Procedures

In addition to the general university requirements for admission to graduate studies as outlined in the university catalog, an applicant for admission to the Master of Science in Counseling Psychology degree program must meet program requirements as stated below:

All applicants: Complete all foundational or prerequisite courses with a grade of "C" or better.

FOUNDATION COURSES

PSYC 152	Introduction to Psychology
PSYC 216	Introduction to Statistics for the Behavioral Sciences
PSYC 350	Introduction to Psychometrics
PSYC 404/604	Theories of Personality
PSYC 411/611	History of Psychology
PSYC 422/622	Physiological Psychology

All students will initiate the process of admission to precandidacy in the MSCP program by setting an appointment with their assigned advisor, who, together with the student, will evaluate the appropriateness of their entry to the program as a precandidate, on either a regular or provisional basis. The culmination of this application process will be the development of a tentative program of study, and the issuance of a letter from the Program Coordinator establishing the student's status as a precandidate in the MSCP program. If the result of the initial advisement indicates that entry into the program is inappropriate at that time, due to the student's not meeting provisional admission requirements, the student will be issued a letter to that effect, indicating deficiencies that would need to be rectified prior to reconsideration for admission.

Regular admission to precandidacy:

- a) Complete an application for admission to graduate studies (a student may not apply for admission to candidacy for the Master of Science in Counseling Psychology degree program without having qualified for regular admission to graduate study at the University);
- b) Submit official transcripts from all colleges and universities attended;
- c) Submit GRE scores that reflect a score of 800 or higher on the verbal (GRE-V) and quantitative (GRE-Q) areas.
- d) Have earned an overall undergraduate grade point average of 2.75 or higher. Exception only by student appeal to the MSCP Program Committee.
- e) Complete 6 hours of graduate work at LSUS with no more than one grade of "C".
- f) File a Program of Study within the first 12 hours or prior to a third semester of enrollment
- g) Have a "B" or better on all graduate transfer credits.

Provisional admission to precandidacy:

- a) Complete an application for admission to graduate studies (a student may not apply for admission to candidacy for the Master of Science in Counseling Psychology degree program without having qualified for regular admission to graduate study at the University);
- b) Submit official transcripts from all colleges and universities attended;
- c) Have an initial undergraduate GPA of 2.75 or higher. Exception only by student appeal to the MSCP Program Committee

Regular or provisional admission to precandidacy:

This may be granted immediately upon receipt of all required credentials. All applicants for the Master of Science in Counseling Psychology degree program who meet the requirements stipulated above are initially admitted as pre-candidates. However, some applicants who meet basic admission requirements may not be approved for precandidacy status. Limited space in the program requires that applicants be evaluated on a competitive basis. Those students accepted as pre-candidates may be continued through the completion of 12 semester credit hours of work at LSUS, whereupon continuing students must apply for admission to candidacy.

Admission to Candidacy for the Master of Science in Counseling Psychology Program

A student enrolled in the Master of Science in Counseling Psychology curriculum may be admitted to candidacy for the degree after meeting the following standards:

- a) Complete an application for admission to candidacy in the Master of Science in Counseling Psychology degree program (forms available in the Department of Psychology office). Such application may include the completion of a professional portfolio, case presentation, or other appropriate assessments of the applicant's readiness for candidacy status, as determined by the Committee.
- b) Application must be made as soon as 12 graduate semester credit hours toward the degree have been earned with a grade point average of 3.0 or higher.
- c) Secure three (3) references (forms available in the Department of Psychology office): one from a current faculty member, and two from the student's choice. Reference forms must be sent to the Master of Science in Counseling Psychology Program Committee, Department of Psychology, LSUS, One University Place, Shreveport, LA 71115.
- d) Complete the required prerequisites in Introduction to Psychology, Introductory Statistics for the Behavioral Sciences, Introduction to Psychometrics, Theories of Personality, History of Psychology, and Physiological Psychology.
- e) Provide evidence of freedom from emotional and physical limitations that would jeopardize success as a professional counselor.

The admission to candidacy procedure will be coordinated by the Master of Science in Counseling Psychology Program Committee, which will make its recommendations for admission to candidacy through the Program Coordinator and Department Chair to the Dean of Graduate Studies. Due to limited space in the program, approval for candidacy in the program is on a competitive basis.

Grade Policy

A GPA of 3.0 or higher is required for graduation from the Master of Science in Counseling Psychology degree program. Students are expected to maintain a minimum 3.0 GPA throughout the program. After any semester in which a student's GPA drops below 3.0, the student will be placed on probation. The student is expected to return to a GPA of 3.0 or higher the following semester. Only one (1) grade of "C" is allowed toward the completion of the degree. A second grade of "C" must be repeated, with a minimal grade of "B" required on the repeated course for a student to remain in the MSCP program. A third earned grade of "C" may result in dismissal from the program. All grades earned in graduate course work, whether at LSUS or elsewhere, will be included in the computation of the minimum 3.0 GPA required for graduation. Undergraduate courses taken as prerequisites while in graduate status are not so included.

Transfer Credit

A maximum of 12 semester hours may be accepted by routine transcript and course content review and approval by the Master of Science in Counseling Psychology Program Committee and/or the Program Coordinator, and an additional 12 hours may be considered for approval at the discretion of the program committee on an individual basis. Courses taken as part of a completed, related graduate degree may be considered by the committee for transfer in the context of the degree.

Comprehensive Examination

Students in the Counseling Psychology program must pass a comprehensive examination. Students become eligible for the examination when they have entered their last semester of course work prior to the internship. Application for permission to sit for the examination is made through the Department of Psychology, and permission is granted by the Program Coordinator. Each section of the examination is graded by three faculty members from the College of Education. The program committee will determine criteria for successful completion of the exam and make this information available to students prior to examination dates. The Master of Science in Counseling Psychology Program Committee Chair mails students the results, which may, at the committee's discretion, include a requirement to retake all or selected portions of the examination. A student who does not successfully pass the remediation process will not be allowed to continue in the program.
