

MANAGEMENT & ADMINISTRATION

Organizations -- whether large or small, for profit or not for profit -- succeed or fail largely on the vision and capabilities of their managers. Management majors acquire a basic knowledge of planning, organizing, staffing, and coordinating the activities of an organization. They also acquire the specific knowledge and skills for enhancing employee performance, for assessing and addressing critical problems and decisions, and for leveraging the human capital in an organization.

Human Resource Management Concentration: Students choosing to major in Management and Administration may elect to also pursue a concentration in the area of Human Resource Management. The student must apply 12 hours of the specified electives within the Management and Administration curriculum toward the courses listed below. The interested student must also have either a 2.5 cumulative GPA, or a 2.75 GPA for the last 24 hours of course work taken at LSUS.
