

Welcome to LSUS TypeFocus Careers!

LSUS Career Services is pleased to provide this interactive online tool for LSUS students and alumni. This program is designed to help you clarify your strengths and values, map your educational plan based on those values and strengths, incorporate your educational plan into a successful career focus, and learn how to be successful on the job.

LSUS student access. Go to the LSUS Career Services office at 230 Administration Building to receive access to the system. Once you receive access you may access the system from any computer with internet access.

The site is www.careers.typefocus.com. Site code: Lsus78. Username: Student ID

You will not be able to access the system until you have registered for access to the program with the LSUS Career Services office. You must do this in person.

What does TypeFocus Careers do?

TypeFocus Careers assesses a client's personality type and automatically incorporates it into five personalized reports. These reports offer insight into self-awareness that promotes wise decisions about important topics:

- What career choices fit with my personality?
- How can I improve my chances for getting a job?
- How can I get along with people better?
- What are my learning style strengths?

The LSUS TypeFocus Careers program helps you answer the following questions through a series of reporting areas.

Who am I...really?

This Self-awareness Report helps you clarify your values, skills and interests and link to careers that work with your strengths.

Where am I going?

This Setting Goals Report helps you develop a focus and recognize your passion, creating a roadmap for your educational goals that links in context to your life goals.

What separates you from others?

This Getting the Job-Gaining an Advantage Report helps you use your personality strengths and values in your job search.

How do I succeed?

This Success at Work Report helps you understand your learning style and understand how to deal with working relationships, handle conflicts, and work on a team.

Where should I focus?

This Success Factors Results Report helps you find your hidden strengths and areas of development. It also helps you understand how factors like self-esteem, taking responsibility, goal persistence, ability to reach out, and willingness to compete influence your success.

How does the program work?

Each user sets up his/her own username and password, which allows our server to offer a totally confidential access to the program. Once the user identifies their personality type, the program remembers this information and builds it into the remaining sections. As the user works through the sections, information from one section can be automatically incorporated into the next section. For example, when a user identifies a career they are interested in within the Career Selection Section, the computer will also save the educational requirements needed for this career within the Education Plan Section.

Besides saving information, the program is interactive. Users add their own information that is stored and automatically incorporated into their reports. Eventually the user has a set of five reports that form a holistic approach to self-awareness and career success. The program is flexible and easily allows users to re-assess their personality or change it so it fits with their self-perception.
